Plans For Formation of Brass Band For High School Cadet Corps Are Underway — Commencement Exercises November 27th.

At last night's meeting of the Board of Education Principal Smith stated that an effort was being made to form a brass band in connection with the High School Cadet Corps. At his request the Board passed a motion requesting the town council to grant the band the use of the musical instruments owned by the town.

Mr. Smith stated that he believed he could secure some help in this connection from the Officers and bandmaster of the 2nd Batt. Lincoln and Welland Reserve Regiment with which the Corps is affiliated. Military District No. 2 headquarters forwarded a cheque for $15 to assist in the formation of the Corps.

Public school attendance for the month of October showed 347 pupils registered with an average attendance of 903, or 95 per cent. Principal Griffin reported the loaning of a ping pong table for the use of the pupils by Father O'Donnell.

Department of Education notified during the war by industries holidays, while not being recognized during the war by industry and the public at large they must be recognized by the schools.

A check-up of the 16 typewriters in the high school showed that they were badly in need of repair. An estimate for new parts amount to approximately $80.00. Labor (Continued on page 6)

Memorial Services For Fallen Heroes

Veterans And I.O.O.F. Will Decorate Graves And Hold Armistice Services On Sunday Afternoon.

"They are not dead except when we forget them and fail them by forgetting that for which they died."

Dedication and Memorial Services in commemoration of Grimsby men of the Great War who fell in action, or have passed away since, and of those in this conflict who have followed them, will be held in Queen's Lawn cemetery and Moore's Theatre (the Soldier's Church) on Sunday afternoon, November 8th, under the auspices of Lincoln Loyalist Chapter, I.O.O.F. and West Lincoln Branch, No. 127, Canadian Legion.

The Armistice day parade will "fall in" at The Independent office at 2:30 p.m. and march to Queen's Lawn cemetery where the graves of departed comrades will be decorated and the short Legion service conducted. The parade will then return to town and the memorial service will commence in Moore's Theatre at four o'clock.

Brigadier-General Armand A. Smith, M.C., V.D., will be chairman of the services and will be assisted by Rev. W. J. Watt, Mr. J. Richardson, Rev. O. Taylor-Munro, Rev. J. Allan Gillard, James Lay, President of the Legion.

All citizens are requested to attend the decoration of graves in the cemetery and the service in the theatre.

FOUND AT LAST

Old soldiers will tell you that the laziest and "lyingest" man in the army is the Quartermaster Sergeant and that to try and draw an issue of anything from socks to grenades is like pulling elephants tusks. But we have at last found a truthful G.M.S. He is our own town boy, Eddie Housie, who has a sign hanging over his desk at North Bay camp that reads as follows: "Never—Did So Many Wait So Long For So Little."

The Village Meetin'

(By Phil Oulfer, in Seaforth Express)

Most of us were into the village last night for a meeting. It was a rally to get folks interested in the Victory Bond drive. We were going to have it last week and then old Mrs. Junkins died and as she was one of the best respected folks in the community we put it off. Some people didn't like the idea of putting it off... but I think it worked out for the best that we did.

The hand got their uniforms out of the moth balls and they started the proceedings off with quite a bang. Old Tom Tooley got out of the swing of the music once or twice and Jed Riley kept on beating the big drum after they all finished, but on the whole it was a pretty good program. The pupils from the village school put on a patriotic pageant and one of the youngsters gave a recitation about commandos. He lost his place in the poem once or twice, but on the whole he did a good job.

Then we had the speeches. Ed Watkins, the township reeve, introduced a fellow from the city. He was a paunchy, shiny, bald-headed gent who had more talk than common sense. He ranted on about how thankful we should all be and of how we should give every cent we had to this drive. Then he started saying that we better or else the Government might step in and take it away from us anyway. Some of his talk was all right, but then he started talking just to hear himself talking. I think.

He finally sat down and we clapped... more because we were thankful that he was through than anything. Ed Watkins got up then. Now Ed isn't what you call a good speaker. He says what he wants to say in as short a time as possible, but he knows what he's talking about. Well, he stood up and didn't say anything for a few minutes and then I knew he was mad. You can always tell. He scratches his chin usually. Well, he was scratching his chin to beat the hands and he said... a whole lot.

"Our speaker has told us a lot of things tonight. He's a city man and he thinks in the way of a man who was born and raised in the city," Ed said. "I'm a country man. I was born and brought up in this township and I've farmed here all my life. I'm going to tell you why I think we should buy Victory Bonds.

"I go to the Presbyterian Church; Franchy LeClere, who lives across the road, goes to the Catholic Church, and Tom Bennewell goes into town to the new Lutheran Church. Ed Higgins goes to the United Church and Peter Wilson goes to the Anglican Church. We live together and we get along alright and nobody bothers us. That's freedom.

"I'm a Conservative and Ed Higgins is a Liberal. We argue about it but we respect each other for our opinions. I'm your reeve and when you don't like the work I'm doing, or if you think somebody else should be there, you simply won't vote for me. I run my farm as I please and try to do as good a job as possible. I can do as I please with what I grow. There's nobody going to take it away to feed themselves while my family starves, and trouble but that's what makes living worth while. When you

"We're free men. We've had bad times and poor prices come through a bad season you appreciate the good season better than ever. Most of us have cars and we work hard and have a pretty good time at that. The main thing is, we're free to do as we please... in a country which we operate with our votes.

"That's why I'm going to buy Victory Bonds!"

Henry E. Radford Suffers Fractured Skull From Blow In The Face — Was Manager of Prince George Hotel in Toronto — Managed Metal Craft.

Henry E. Radford was well known in Grimsby, he having resided here for a few years with his family, on Nellie Boulevard. He was connected with the Metal Craft Co. as manager.

A police investigation of the facts surrounding the death of Henry E. Radford, 53, president and general manager of the Prince George Hotel, Toronto, who died in St. Michael's hospital, Toronto, Monday morning, has been ordered following an autopsy.

The coronian suffered a fractured skull as the result of a blow received early Friday morning in the hotel.

Inspector John Vernon, of Toronto Police, said Radford was struck in the face while attempting to hurry a group of persons out of the hotel following a dance given under the auspices of a Toronto firm. The manager was using up a group of men to get their coats when one of the men refused to get in line, and struck Radford, the blow blackening an eye and breaking his glasses, Inspector Vernon said.

Police were called, but the hotel manager, apparently not badly hurt, said he did not want to prosecute anyone. The man said to have struck the blow was taken home by friends in a taxi. Mr. Radford went to his home, at 6 Neville Park Boulevard, early Sunday. In the afternoon he complained of feeling ill, and shortly after lapsed

New Cement Walk Marred By Nitwits

People With More Energy Than Brains Climb Over Barricade To Walk On Fresh Cement—Will Prosecute.

There is reading somewhere in Grimsby a man and a woman and a couple of children, who have more energy in their systems than they have brains in their head.

Last week Town Supt. Lawrie laid some new blocks of cement sidewalk on Depot street in front of the Hummel and Jarvis properties. When the job was finished late in the afternoon a four way barricade was placed around the fresh cement. At night two red lanterns were hung on the barricade.

Some time during the evening and night a man pedestrian and likewise a woman, must have come to the barricade and instead of walking around it they just climbed over it, walked across the fresh cement and climbed over the second railing. The man's shoes, by measurement is a No. 10, the woman's a No. 4.

The prints in the cement show that at least three different children walked on the fresh cement. Also they took time to scrawl their initials.

It is understandable why small children will place their foot prints or initials in wet cement. But how any man or woman can be so brainless to do so and particularly (Continued on page 7)

A Special Clinic For Blood Donors

Wednesday, November 18th, From Four to Seven O'clock Has Been Set Aside For Grimsby Citizens.

A special Grimsby Clinic for the donation of blood to the Red Cross Voluntary Blood Donor Service, of Hamilton, has been arranged for Wednesday, November 18th, from four to seven o'clock.

During the past year Grimsby has had a blood donor list of 120 who have given blood regularly. Some of these men have now joined the armed forces or moved away and the local committee are very anxious to secure new donors to fill up the ranks.

Transportation will be provided with cars leaving the Model Dairy every half hour from 3:30 o'clock. Donors are requested to call for lunch on that day, fruit, cereal (skim milk) dry toast, jam, coffee (skim milk) vegetables without butter, lean meat. Blood containing fat cannot be processed and has to be discarded.

Persons wishing to donate blood to this worthy cause are asked to communicate with any of the following committee: Wm. Hoxson, R. C. Bourne, Herb Betzner, Russell Terry, Irwin Phelps, H. B. Malchett or Ken Baxter.

Victory Loan Objective of $190,000 Passed Saturday Night—$226,450 Subscribed Up Until Tuesday Night.

$347 PER CAPITA

652 People Have Subscribed — 123 Made Purchases at Out of Town Factories Where They Work.

"Fine, Fine, Fine" was the reply this week of the Local Victory Loan Chairman, Mr. A. R. Globe, when we inquired as to how the loan is doing here. Mr. Globe continued "The people have taken hold of the job in the real spirit of 'this is our job and we will do it'."

Our objective for the third Loan was $190,000. Really $200,000 was meant, and this we had in the bag last Saturday night. On Monday morning Mr. Bailey made a further appeal for as much as could be gathered in. So! Once again the people came into Headquarters. They telephoned in, or the canvassers went to them, with the result that at the close of business, last Tuesday night, a grand total of $226,450 was piled up, with four days to go.

Grimsby and North Grimsby Township have a population of about 4,000 people. The canvass, during this campaign, has produced the following figures to last Tuesday night:

Men enlisted in Army, Navy and Air Force, 240.

Men employed out of town, Subscriptions made at the plants where they work, 123.

Grimsby and District subscribers, 652.

Unable to purchase Bonds, 508.

To be canvassed or reports not in, 293.

Arena To Operate If Pipes Right

Big Palace of Pleasure Now Being Readied—Impossible to Purchase New Pipes And Valves If Such Are Needed.

"If it is at all possible to operate the Arena this winter, we will operate. We believe that the children and the grown-ups of this district, in these war days, must have recreation, and the Arena will run if it is possible for us to get it in shape."

That statement was made on Wednesday morning by Earl J. Marsh, Manager of Niagara Packers Ltd., owners of the Arena.

A gang of men started work yesterday morning taking up the large floor that covers the pipes during the fruit packing season. As soon as this work is completed tests will be made on the pipes for leaks. If the leaks are not too numerous, Mr. Marsh believes that they have enough pipe on hand to make the needed repairs.

Under the present materials shortage it will be impossible to buy new pipe or valves. If the pipes and valves are found to be in such condition that a lot of new material would be required to make the repairs then the Arena would not be able to operate. If the repairs are not extensive then the Arena will operate.

Facts And Fancies

Frank Fairborn, Jr.

LEST WE FORGET

At 11 o'clock on the 11th day of November, 1918, the Armistice of the First Great War was signed. On Wednesday next we observe the twenty-fourth anniversary of the cessation of fire.

All over Canada in great cities and rural districts will gather little knots and great multitudes of people to pay homage to the memory of the 66,500 Canadians who were killed or died of wounds, also to those who have since passed on.

In the Memorial Chamber of the Peace Tower on Parliament Hill, in the capital city of Ottawa, has been placed the Book of Remembrance in which is engraved the names of those who gave their lives that we might live in peace and freedom; whose passing cost Canada so much; who, if they lived, would have been able to build a juster world.

Once again we are engaged in a terrible conflict which makes us realize the great sacrifice that they made. It was not they who brought on this war. Their sacrifice was made to stop forever just such conflicts. They did not fight one war so that their younger brothers and sons might engage in another. It was not they who refused to accept the fact that no nation can live alone. They knew that every man is his brother's keeper.

Memorial services will be held in Grimsby on Sunday, when members of the Canadian Legion and kindred organizations will honor their departed comrades in arms. First by the decoration of the graves of those who sleep in the Soldiers' plot in Queen's Lawn cemetery, later at a service which will be held in Moore's Theatre at which we hope our citizenry will attend in large numbers.

CITIZENS MUST BE SATISFIED

It must have been a source of gratification to our Town Fathers at Court of Revision last week to have only one appeal, a minor one, entered against the assessment. It is a very significant fact that the taxpayers must be thoroughly satisfied with the manner in which Mayor Johnson and his councillors are conducting the affairs of the town.

In contrast, down in Merriton there have been 25 appeals entered by citizens and some of them are for large amounts. Which does not show too much satisfaction on the part of the people.

The one great reason, we believe, why the taxpayers of Grimsby are contented with the way our council is handling their business, is the great reduction in their taxes that has taken place in the last five years. In 1937 the tax rate of Grimsby was 62 mills. In 1942 it is 43 mills. A drop of 19 mills. Which in itself is proof positive that our municipal business is in good hands.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY—

Municipal and police officials in the large centres throughout Canada and the United States are very much perturbed by the wave of crime by juveniles that is sweeping across the continent.

For over 20 years juvenile delinquency has been a growing problem with municipal and police officials, religious bodies and Service Clubs. It centred mostly in the large cities but of late years slowly worked its way into the small cities and towns and of late has penetrated to the small villages and rural districts.

Up until a year ago Grimsby had been particularly free of this type of criminal disorder. Then it suddenly reared its ugly head and before being successfully brought under control several very serious crimes had been committed.

This problem is one that we will all have to face. It is growing and growing fast and we must all endeavour to kill it at its root. In this connection a very timely article from the pen of County Judge Stuart J. G. Stanbury, St. Catharines, recently appeared in the Globe and Mail and we reprint it here.

Both editorially and by your correspondents you have been directing public attention lately to one of the most important subjects affecting the future of our people—the question of juvenile delinquency. The alarming reports from Toronto and Hamilton have no doubt stirred the conscience of editor and social worker alike, and the cry goes up: "What can we do to stem the tide? We must save our youth."

May I offer some suggestions which are the fruit of several years of testing in St. Catharines. In 1937 and 1938 juvenile delinquency in the city and County of Lincoln was so bad and increasing in numbers that it constituted a definite challenge to action. It was apparent that home protection, guidance and discipline had broken down, even before the war, which seems now to receive the chief blame. Even the Church did not accept its responsibility and its opportunity, or was losing its attraction for youth. It was apparent that corporal punishment was not a complete deterrent, that the training schools were a heavy charge on the pockets of the ratepayers, and of doubtful value except in hardened cases.

With these convictions the citizens of St. Catharines tried other methods. A city-wide survey was undertaken by the directors of the "Y", dealing exhaustively with all angles of the youth problem. A representative gathering of citizens was convened, composed of delegates invited from every church, every fraternal lodge, every service club, and every organization, both Jew and Gentile, and at that meeting a Big Brother movement was started. It is impossible to exaggerate the influence which this body of interested and devoted men has had, not only correctively, but preventively.

Then it was realized that delinquency was largely the result of idleness and the street corner gatherings. Nothing is truer than the old saying, "Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do." So prominent citizens revived a campaign to erect the splendid arena which St. Catharines has dedicated to youth. At once juvenile skating and hockey clubs sprang into being all over the city, sponsored by teachers and others interested in sport and the welfare of the young people. In summer numerous boys' lacrosse and baseball clubs were organized.

The plan was to substitute activities where the boys could spend their energies beneficially, and it has worked. Juvenile delinquency in St. Catharines has been definitely reduced in spite of all the adverse war conditions and an increase of nearly 5,000 in population in 1942 and of substantial numbers in previous years. Home and church and school must still be charged with their duty, but where these fail the kindly encouraging arm of a Big Brother and the substitution of activity for idleness will work wonders. Try it!

Penned and Pilfered

The wintry winds will soon be blowing. What did you do with your summer's earnings?

Rose buds blooming in Grimsby. Wouldn't the Heinies on the Russian front just love to hear that.

Headline: "Ham and Eggs Being Canned"—Man's last stronghold against the Can Opener has been stormed and captured.

There are still some people squawking about the tea, coffee and sugar ration. Did they ever stop to figure what a air ration would be in Poland.

Tires and gasoline are taking their toll. I have seen the day when it took a three-quarters of an hour to get across Main street. Now if a fellow wants to have the pleasure of dodging a gas buggy he has to wait three-quarters of an hour for one to come along.

A man said to me the other day "Did you read So and So's speech this morning?" No, I replied, I haven't had the time. It has got to this day and age that if a man reads all the politicians' speeches that appear in the papers and listens to all the radio harangues he would die of starvation, for he wouldn't have time enough left in every 24 hours to earn himself a living.

"Such distinction; such splendid wear; such all-round use" applied to the new handbags that were "English beauties" the advertisement said. It sounded just the thing to brighten up the old winter ensemble. Then at the very bottom in very small type—$22.50 up. Maybe they stuttered the two's. If not, it must have been a safety vault they were selling.—Tweed News.

Does Happy Thought or Jewel, or self-feeder or range touch a responsive chord in your memory? If any of them does it is as possible to give a guess at your age as if your name happened to be Marie or Dorothy. We refer to the dead days which may be revived in a hurry rather frighteningly. If you should notice an elderly man, obviously absent-minded, with a faraway look in his eye, it might be reasonable to guess that his mind is ranging over some of the names we have mentioned; that he has an oil or a gas furnace and is wondering how long he will have it. If he is old enough, he can remember not only when there were no oil or gas furnaces but no coal furnaces. Instead there were stoves and grates. In England the furnace as we know it is a comparative novelty, and is referred to as central heating, with a great many people regarding it as an extremely dangerous experiment, likely to impair the hardihood of the virtue Islanders.

The stoves with which early generations of Toronto people were familiar and which are now to be found probably in a hundred thousand homes scattered throughout Canada were generally of three classes. There was the self-feeder, whose business it was to heat that part of the house insulated from the kitchen, which meant the front part and upstairs. It stood usually in the hall, and was a most imposing and ornate affair, gleaming with nickel-plate and glittering with mica. It was in such stoves that most of us saw mica for the first time. As a matter of fact we do not recall ever having seen it anywhere else, and wonder if indeed it has other uses. The self-feeder was fed from the top. The coal entered a chamber of fire brick, and settled as it was consumed. One of these stoves would keep heat in it for twenty-four hours by a proper manipulation of dampers. It was the business of the last one to go to bed to give it the final attention for the night. The idea was to check the heat without asphyxiating the tenants, and this was very generally achieved. We might say that apart from being an essential household adjunct the self-feeder was an ornament, and was considered as handsome as the organ in the adjoining parlor, or one of Landseer's steel engravings on the wall, probably "Dignity and Impudence."

Not quite so imposing, but even more essential, was the range in the kitchen. Why this cooking stove should be called a range we do not know. The Oxford Concise Dictionary is silent on the point. Here the family meals were prepared, the bread baked, the joint roasted, the stock pot kept simmering. In addition the range heated the kitchen and perhaps the bedroom above by virtue of its stove-pipes. It was, one might say, the centre of the family life in cold weather, just as the hearth has been spoken of as the heart of family life in England. Most of us ate our meals in the kitchen in those days before the arrival of the furnace; and as often as not undressed there accompanied shivering to bed and came down in nightgowns the next morning to dress in the warmth of the kitchen range. God bless it! The kitchen range survived the furnace, for until the invention of gas and electric stoves our cooking was done on coal or wood fires. Often indeed when the furnace was installed no pipes or radiators were provided for the kitchen, the range being depended upon.

The third type of stove is simply an iron box, of various shapes, generally cylindrical. Its generic name is Quebec heater, and we think that man never devised a more perfect tool, weapon or implement. The Quebec heater burns anything from paper to hard coal, and it burns it in a hurry when called upon to do so. Of course, in every sort of heater a good deal of heat escapes up the chimney, but with the exception of this common defect the Quebec heater does what it is intended for as perfectly as a spirit level, a Bren gun or a circular saw. It requires attention about twice in every twenty-four hours can raise the temperature in an average room from freezing point to 80 degrees in from five to ten minutes and the residual ash is surprisingly small. The Quebec heater was probably the first stove ever invented, and naturally the name of the genius who conceived it is no better known than the other but not superior genius who invented the wheel. It has probably hundreds of names. You can see a large Quebec heater in most isolated railroad stations today, generally with several people standing round and sitting on it, to test its heat, like a woman touching her iron with a molten-hot finger. The habit is a reprehensible one, but perhaps in this case to be understood as a gesture of affection and esteem.

Some years ago a man who was something of an expert on building told us that the problem of cheap housing could never be solved as long as people insisted upon having cellars and furnaces, which added from a third to one-half the cost of the completed house. He was that thinking of houses that could be rented probably for about $30 a month or less. Instead of cellars people would have wood-sheds like their grandfathers and cooking ranges and Quebec heaters. But it seems likely that in the future the building of houses which people earning maybe $35 a week can afford to own or rent will be accepted as a Government responsibility. If that is so the emergence of the self-feeder, the kitchen range and the Quebec heater may be only a temporary one, to be regarded by many sheltered urban souls as one of the minor horrors of war.

And now, just when there is all this talk about the return of the horse to his former useful sphere, along comes a professor from Saskatoon and suggests that as they are cheaper than cattle we might as well eat them. All that stands between us and a good dinner of horse meat he says is "some unjustifiable whims." All right, professor, you dine on horse meat. We'll take the whims.—Elora Express.

Ditty? How Come?

(Warton Echo)

Ditty bags? Some people call them comfort bags, but the name "ditty" seems to be the popular one and this is how it arose according to an exchange:

"In the Napoleonic wars, the girls of Britain packed bags and boxes with little treats for the soldiers, enclosing a card with sender's name and address. Very romantic, but much similar to what the girls are doing today. They scented the cards, and wrote some verse on it, such as 'Roses are red, violets are blue...' etc." These little 'ditties' gave the bags their name, and with the passage of time, this name has come to be applied to the personal property bags of soldiers aboard ship, more than to land fighters."

Worn Out Tire Is News

(Sudbury Examiner)

When an auto tire wears out it can scarcely be called news, although there are a lot of people about here these days who look upon such a happening as nothing short of a calamity.

But one tire which was worn out on the streets of Chicago recently really made news, because it was a tire made of synthetic rubber.

What is even more important, it lasted just as long as the other three tires on the car which were all made out of the real thing. The three were all changed from wheel to wheel so as to give each one the same kind of wear and all of them lasted the normal life of a tire, which was about 43,000 miles.

This tire is said to be the first synthetic tire manufactured by one of the big companies to wear out in commercial use and it had been placed on one of the company's cars a year and a half ago—months before tires became tires.

These synthetic tires are said by drivers to be more easily handled on wet pavements than the old type, but cost a little more at first. The price, however, will soon come down, it is claimed, when the companies get into mass production.

We wish Chicago was not so far away!

It's The Truth

(New York World-Telegram)

This country needs to quit the land of make-believe, to drop the silly idea that although losing we are bound to win, and awaken to the fact that unless we start winning we will lose.

Amidst defeat we have ceased confidence. We've found not one but a dozen silver linings to every cloud. Sure the Russians are being pushed back; but look at the awful German losses. Sure we're losing ships; but think of what we're going to build. Of course the Japs have taken a lot of places; but wait till we bomb their cardboard cities.

And so it goes. You see it in the papers, hear it on the radio, read it in speeches, applaud it in the movies and cause it in official statements. The U.S. Treasury sends to newspapers a so-called Liberty Linerick:

A painter named Samuel Bush

Said, "Here is our job it's rush . . .

Buy war bonds so fast

That Hitler can't last.

And the Japs will collapse in the crash!"

See, just that easy. Wait till we get going!

This state of mind is why we scramble for high wages, fatter contracts, bigger farm parity and group advantages; why we strike and waste time and money in the midst of war; why we burn up rubber and gas and fail to collect scrap.

We haven't faced the fact that we are losing this war, that we will lose it finally unless the tide turns.

We haven't realized that this war is everything; that nothing else counts.

The Town Weekly

(By R. J. Deachman, Flotten Gazette)

The town weekly is coming into its own. It has made a great improvement in the last few years. This much is crystal clear to anyone who knows these publications and the men who make them.

Time was, I am sorry to say, when the town paper was a more or less shabby sheet. Men drifted into the business through impulse rather than understanding. A business man who missed the boat, a teacher who quarrelled with the trustees, a preacher who, for one reason or another, fell out of the pulpit—all these and more, sought joy and expression in the publishing business. They knew little of printing and less of editing. They were almost altogether ignorant of prices, costs and collections. Things done by these men made angry weep and caused competitors to indulge in an orgy of sub-vocal snarl, ag.

In the old days some got by. Then a new era developed. Improved transportation brought the city daily closer. The radio became a source of news. The weekly had to be revamped. It was compelled to define its own field, occupy it more closely, apply business methods—survive or quit. The competitive system is harsh. It was never meant for weaklings, but those who survived became strong, fitted by effort, conditioned for survival, made capable of progress under difficulties.

The town weekly covers the town and the area around it which, provide a news field that is the natural monopoly of the local paper. With this, of course, goes the job work of the area. Some towns have become stagnant in the last few years; but I have a prevailing idea that the towns of Canada will stage a comeback. The farmer, too, will come into his own and get a larger share of the national income. These events will help the town paper, enlarge its field, make it stronger than it ever was before.

There is no reason why these desirable events should not happen in the next few years. The town has many advantages. Costs of living are less. Costs of production in many industries are lower than in the cities. There is on the average, a higher level of human happiness in the town than in the city. The revival of the town may be one of the notable events of the latter half of this century.

Christian Nurture In The Family

Deuteronomy 8:4-9, 20-25; 2 Timothy 3:14-15.

GOLDEN TEXT

Train up a child in the way that he should go, and when he is old, he will not depart from it. Proverbs 22:6.

An Introduction To The Lesson

The bible, which is the word of God, is the only sure foundation upon which to build and nurture a Christian family. Every Christian home is designed to be a little foretaste of that eternal home which shall be the portion of all the redeemed in the Father's House.

A Lesson Outline

The Old Testament Command Parents responsible to teach God's word to their children as seen in our lesson taken from Deuteronomy 8:4-9; 20-25.

Reverence and love for God inculcated (verses 4, 5).

His commandments to be made known (verses 6, 7).

His word ever to be remembered (verses 8, 9).

Teaching by ordinances, blessing to follow obedience (verses 20-25).

The New Testament Results

The word imparted to the child came faith to spring up in the child (2nd Timothy 3:14, 15).

The Heart of The Lesson

It is in the child's formative years that the deepest and most lasting impressions are made. Therefore the importance of teaching the young, both by precept and

Magic Carpet

Everyone has wished, at times, for a "magic carpet"—one that would whisk him instantaneously, without effort, to the place where he "aged to be."

Mohammedan writers say that King Solomon had a green silk carpet, on which his throne was placed when he travelled. This carpet was large enough for all his forces to stand upon; men and women stood at his right hand, the spirits on his left. When all were arranged in order, Solomon told the wind where he wished to go, and the carpet, with all its contents, rose in the air and alighted at the place indicated. In order to screen the party from the sun, the birds of the air with outspread wings formed a canopy over the whole party.

There is a similar story in the "Arabian Nights," in which the magic carpet is called "the magic carpet of Tangy," or "Prince Housain's carpet."—Everyday Sayings.

Think Of It!

Writing in The Children's Newspaper Mr. Arthur Mee has this to say:

"When the social history of our times is written the most astounding fact of all will be that while we gave up so much of our necessities we clung to so much of our luxuries. The two greatest luxuries in our national life, measured by what we spend on them, remain as they were."

"Lord Kinderley cries himself hoarse to get a hundred millions for his National Savings, but never a word is said about the seven hundred millions we spend every year in drinking and smoking. The molehills of waste are saved, the pennies and bits of string; but the mountains of waste go on. We do not believe in freedom quite so much as to give up beer or cigarettes."

Alas, that this should also be the case in Canada.

example, the truth, power, and authority of God's word.

Application

Remember that example is better than precept. If the lives of Christian parents are inconsistent, the children will be quick to realize it, and will stumble thereby.

Five Things Parents Can Do

You can build your home life on love and make it God centered.

You can grow in fellowship with God, and share that fellowship with your children.

You can take your part in the worship and work of the church, and encourage your children to do the same.

You can answer truthfully and constructively your children's questions.

You can think and act courageously in all moral situations, and help your children to make habitual for themselves Christian ways of living.

BOY SCOUT SAVES R.A.F. PILOT

When a Fleet Air Arm plane crashed into the sea off the English coast, the scene was witnessed by a British Boy Scout and his chum. The pilot managed to get clear of the burning plane but lost consciousness. The Scout, 13 year old Alan McIlbert who was paddling in a home-made punt, nearby soon arrived on the scene, supported the unconscious man on the frail craft and brought him safely to shore.

The Cheerful Sabbath Bell

For over fifty years the Meneely Bell Company, of Troy, N.Y., has been advertising in the church weeklies of Canada. Now an announcement comes from them that their government has placed a ban, for the duration, on the manufacture of church bells. Well, if we heed those we already have, it might be something.

"The cheerful Sabbath bells, wherever heard, strike pleasant on the sense, most like the voice Of one, who from the far-off hills proclaims Tidings of good to Zion."

Do I? Am I?

- 1.—Do I really want to see Christian standards maintained in my community and my country?
- 2.—If I do, am I willing to do some work to maintain those standards and to re-establish them where they could have been abandoned?
- 3.—Am I willing to give both time and money to my local church?
- 4.—Am I willing to give time and money to the larger church?
- 5.—Am I willing to accept a church office and perform the duty of that office faithfully?
- 6.—Am I willing to do one thing to help in the training of young people?
- 7.—Am I willing to devote part of my time to the reading of Christian literature?
- 8.—Am I willing to devote one hour a week to worship in my church?
- 9.—Am I willing to devote one more hour each week for an additional service of worship or for other religious activities in the church?
- 10.—Am I willing to make my home a Christian home in thought, in work, in deed?

Equinoctial Gales

There's no such thing.

According to an unassailable authority, belief that the spring and autumn equinox brings gales or rain is quite without foundation. In fact, it is called a "popular superstition" by said authority, which flatly denies the allegation that there is more rain or wind during the equinoxes than is likely to occur at any other time.

So that's that, and we must find something else on which to saddle the blame for our recent downpours.

According to our teachers who did their best to better knowledge into our poor little heads, the term equinox comes from two Latin words meaning "equal" and "night," and the equinoxes are the two days in the year—March 21st and September 22nd—when the days are equal to the nights all over the world. It was, no doubt, a very nice thing to know, but it is much to be feared that we failed to benefit from it.

Our Town

One of the things we like about Grimsby is the pride people take in keeping up their places. There are few dismal "back-yards" given over to ash heaps, weeds and rubbish, such as peep out of some other towns we might, but won't, mention. Instead there are rear gardens, delightful spots to work in during the cool of the morning, to rest in at the end of the day.

Following the prevailing fashion, there may be a wading pool for the children or for the goldfish and the neighbours' cats, but this is by no means essential. There are two or three garden chairs and a table under a shady tree. Maybe a swing for the youngsters, and plenty of cool, green grass. Naturally there would be flowers, shrubs, fruit trees and well-behaved vegetables.

The humble and often unsightly backyard has been glorified into a summer living room. Those who possess one can hardly wait through the long winter months to get out in it and begin another season of improvements.

In Praise Of The Apple Tree

The sedate and comfortable motherliness of old apple trees is felt by all apple lovers. Apple trees soften and humanize the wildest country scene. Even in a remote pasture, or on a mountain side, they convey a sentiment of home; and after one has been lost in the mazes of close-grown wood-roads apple trees are inexpressibly welcome as giving promise of a sheltering roof.

The incomparable beauty of the apple tree in full bloom has ever been sung by the poets, but even their words cannot fitly nor fully tell the delight to the senses of the close view of those exquisite pink and white domes, with their lovely opalescent tints, their ethereal fragrance. In the hand the flowers show a distinct ruddiness, a promise of future red cheeks; but a long vista of trees in bloom displays no tint of pink, the flowers seem purest white. In the darkest night flowering apple trees shine with clear radiance, and an orchard of several hundred acres shows a white expanse like a lake of quicksilver.

There is no play place for children like an old apple tree. The main limbs leave the trunk at exactly the right height for children to reach, and every branch and twig seems to grow and turn only to form delightful perches for children to climb among and cling to. The apple tree offered infinite variety, and a slight sense of daring to the climber. Its possibility of accident is often fulfilled.

Under many farm houses was a cellar filled with bins for vegetables and apples. As the winter passed on there rose from these cellars a curious, earthy, apple smell, which always seemed most powerful in the best parlour, the room least used. The cellar also contained many barrels of cider; for the beauty of the apple trees, and the use of their fruit as food, were not the only factors which influenced the planting of many apple orchards of the new world; they afforded a universal drink-cider.—F. M. Earle in Old Time Gardens.

Our Weekly Recipe

This time we take our recipe from the Grimsby (England) News; it is one of those issued by the Ministry of Food, and sounds very good. We haven't had an opportunity of trying it out yet, but here it is.

CHEESE PANCAKES—Two eggs, ½ pint milk, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 4 ozs. cheese, salt to taste, fat for frying.

Blend the flour, baking powder and beaten eggs, smoothly, add sufficient milk to make a thick, smooth batter. Beat for ten minutes. Add rest of milk, the grated cheese and salt. Heat a little fat in the frying pan till smoking hot, pour in a thin layer of batter, fry until golden brown on both sides. Turn out, roll, serve with a sprinkling of shredded cheese.

Time for cooking: 15 minutes. Wouldn't this be a very good Saturday luncheon dish?

Our Weekly Poem

PEACE IN WAR TIME

It may be on a quiet mountain top
Or some shy valley folded in the hills
You take your path, and often you will stop
To hear the quiet music of the rills.
The piping of the winds in branches green,
The murmuring of widely lifted spray
As the long boughs swing,
And hear the twittering
Of drowsy birds as the great sun
Is seen
Climbing the steep horizon to the day.

The lovely moon trading her silver dress
By quiet waters, each living ear
Moving apart in holy quiet
Sphere over golden sphere
These you can see, and the unquiet zone
Rolling in snow along the edge of sight.
The world is very fair, and I am free
To see its beauty, and to be
In solitude, and quite forget, and quite
Lose out of memory all I have known

Of everything but this,
And have some peace at last,
And have some peace.
—James Stephens, from Collier's.

The Old Books

English bookshops could sell the English classics by the hundreds—if they had them.

Apparently England is continuing to produce new books, but "Jane Eyre" and "David Copperfield" and "Hamlet" are reprinted for a long, slow sale, and cannot be afforded when there is a paper shortage.

It is one of the effects of war that probably was a little foreseen as the rubber shortage, and its results can be as little predicted.

ed. The Bible is reputed to be the perennial best seller, and yet if no more Bibles were printed for a hundred years, there would still be Bibles. But how many? How much does our culture depend upon old books? That we could not know unless, when printing was stopped, all existing copies were destroyed.

We seldom repent having eaten too little.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SLOW, SHARP AND STEADY

Everybody has heard of the three "R's" but the photographer who took this picture knew the three "S's" of successful photography—Slow, Sharp, and Steady—and applied them to his work.

REMEMBER, "SLOW," "SHARP," "STEADY"—the three "S's"—are familiar to all of us. But have you heard of the three "R's" of photography—Slow, Sharp, and Steady? They're the basis of many a fine picture, even though most of us never think of them often enough.

Consider "Slowness" for instance. Nobody likes to be thought of as a slow worker. Everybody likes to be right up on his toes when taking pictures . . . getting the job done fast and efficiently . . . and that's the case under most circumstances, but when you're just getting started photographically, it often leads to unnecessary mistakes.

So before making any snapshot, take the time to think things through and check up on yourself. Make sure your focus, exposure, and composition are right. And remember that the second "S" in success

DO ALL YOUR CAKES TURN OUT LIKE THIS?

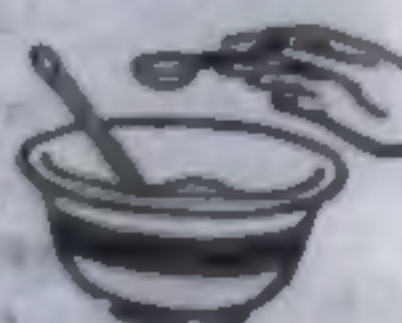

TAKE a tip—try Calumet Double-Acting Baking Powder. Calumet is the baking powder that's suited to modern needs because its double-action—first in the mixing bowl, then in the oven—eliminates much of the risk of cake failure. In that way it helps you save on costly ingredients.

Two Perfectly Balanced Leavening Actions

FIRST IN THE MIXING BOWL

When liquid is added to dry cake ingredients, Calumet gives off thousands of tiny bubbles which surge through the batter making it light and fluffy.

THEN IN THE OVEN

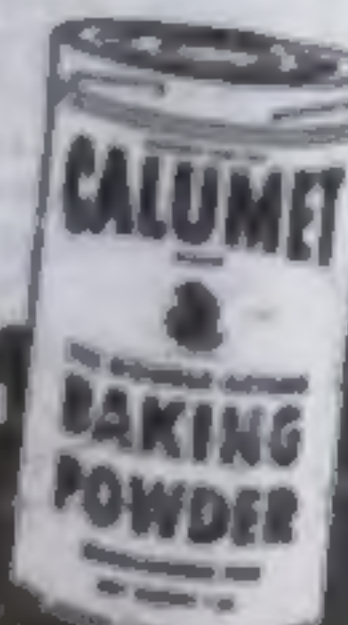

When your cake goes in the oven, not only do the existing bubbles expand to make it rise, but a second leavening action—which many baking powders of other types do not provide—takes place. Thousands of new bubbles are created by the action of heat on Calumet. This second action gives additional assurance of perfect, even rising, and is the reason why Calumet-made cakes have that delicate lightness which experts call "velvety-crumbs."

ECONOMICAL TO USE

Calumet Double-Acting Baking Powder goes further than many other types of baking powder. Most Calumet recipes call for only 1 teaspoon of Calumet to each cup of flour. This, along with low cost and sure results, makes Calumet a thrifty baking powder to use.

A St. Catharines housewife reported to The Standard on Monday that her ration of tea was stolen from her shopping basket in a store on Saturday. She felt that other shoppers would be worried so that they might guard against suffering the same fate. She said that she had surrendered her ration coupons and the one of the clerks in the store had stamped the tea to show that the coupons had been exchanged. When she got home, there was no tea in her shopping bag, and no entry on the sales slip. She surmised that some other shopper had taken the tea from her basket after the ration coupons had been paid. "I did not think there was anyone so mean, as we all have to sacrifice, and tea, these days, is tea," stated the woman.

The Safest Way to Invest Your Money

VICTORY BONDS REPAY ... Every Dollar You Invest!

When you buy Victory Bonds you are laying up for yourself the best of all investments, for back of each one is your country's solemn promise that every dollar you invest in Victory Bonds will be repaid to you in full, plus a fair rate of interest. You can borrow against them, and they are readily saleable when you need the cash. And that solemn promise of repayment in full is backed by all the vast resources of the Dominion of Canada.

When the war is over, you will want to buy all the things we must deny ourselves now. Then, your Victory Bonds will give you the money to buy all these -- and your purchases will provide new employment for our boys when they come home again.

What's your share of the savings job? Well, the average Canadian would have to lend to Canada to meet Canada's need $1 in every $5 of income left after taxes and compulsory savings have been collected. But the average may not fit your case. Your own circumstances are distinctly your own. You may be able to do better both out of your current income and out of your accumulated savings in the bank -- or you may not be able to reach the average. Your share of voluntary savings is every dollar you can possibly spare.

HOW TO BUY

Give your order to the Victory Loan salesman who calls on you. Or place it in the hands of any branch of any bank, or of any trust company. Or send it to your local Victory Loan Headquarters. Or you can authorize your employer to start a regular payroll savings plan for you. Bonds may be bought in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and larger. Salesman, bank, trust company or your local Victory Loan Headquarters will be glad to give you every assistance in making out your order form.

NEW CEMENT WALK

ly have to climb a barricade to get on the cement and climb another one to get out, is beyond comprehension. There certainly must be a screw loose somewhere.

This is not the first time that this same thing has happened. Mr. Colpitts who has just completed that fine new residence at the corner of Main street and Maple avenue, had a whole strip of new cement walk ruined this summer by some nitwit. It has also happened at different times in the past.

Mayor Johnson has issued orders to Chief Turner and all town employees to issue summonses against any persons that they catch committing acts of this kind whether it be on town property or private property. He also asks the assistance of private citizens in prosecuting vandals of this type whom they may see committing these acts.

Many regulations, by-laws, and precedents have been broken, and no has Grimsby's record for purchase of Victory Bonds.

We may be justly proud of this record, but, on the other hand, there are a few who made no effort to do their part, but have left their portion of the burden on other shoulders. There may be a legitimate reason for the individuals who have not at this time made their subscription but in these cases they will have their opportunity for the next Loan and can start now to prepare for it.

Let us make our next Loan a 100% effort. Canada fights clean. We loan our money to the Government to finance our freedom. Our enemies conspire for slavery. Which do you prefer?
